Federal Conciliator Hopeful Of Agreement In Phone Strike

New Efforts At Settlement Of Phone Strike

Federal Conciliators Seek To Bring About Agreement To End Tieup

U. S. REPRESENTATIVE HOPEFUL OF BREAK

(BULLETIN)
WASHINGTON, April 8.—(INS)—Government conciliators said this morning they expected a settlement of the strike of 20,000 long distance telephone workers before the day is over.

Peter Manno, one of the conciliators, before going into a meeting between union and American Telephone and Telegraph Company representatives, told reporters:

"Negotiations are being resumed and we hope that a settlement will be effectuated today in long lines."

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, April 8.—Federal conciliators made a fresh assault today on the two-day national telephone strike which showed no signs of an early break.

U. S. Conciliation Director Edgar L. Warren planned conferences with C. F. Craig, AT&T vice president, and Joseph A. Beirne, president of the National Federation of Telephone Workers.

Some 300,000 phone workers were idle from coast to coast and Beirne declared:

"We are settling down for a long strike."

PA NEW OBSERVES

Two aged trees in the front yard of a West Side home were victims of the saw and axe on Monday.

The trees, cut into cord wood, made several good loads of fire material for someone's furnace in the district.

The high waters of the Shenango river on Monday were doing a spring cleaning job to the banks of the river. Much debris which had collected during the winter months along the stream's edges was being washed down.

The long idle clock atop the First Christian church tower was in operation once more Monday.

The faces on the north and east sides of the clock showed several minutes difference in time.

Furnace fires in local residences which were permitted to burn out during the past several days of warm weather, were rekindled once more on Monday.

The cooler weather also brought out topcoats and overcoats again.

Several downtown business houses were stocking up on coal Monday. Evidently the firms are preparing for any cold snap that might come within the next few days.

Motorists of the city have discovered that the majority of the dirt streets in the city have developed and are patiently awaiting the arrival of the city scraper to smooth out the rough places. About five miles per hour is all the speed that can be gained on most of these streets without breaking a spring.

Many folks wondered, when the phone strike started yesterday, and they tuned in to the recorded announcement that only emergency calls were being handled, just how the recording worked. This came (Continued on Page Two)

What Happens To Vast Ford Wealth?

DETROIT, April 8.—(INS)—What happens to the vast wealth relinquished today by the death of Henry Ford?

Ford himself never regarded his huge fortune as anything more than a good report card for a job well done. He often said that he never bothered to count his money, and those closest to him believed that to be the literal truth.

However, this much is known: Henry Ford held 58 1/2 per cent of the stock in the company in 1919. His only son, Edsel, who died in 1943, acquired 41 1/2 per cent at the end of that time. In 1934 the 172,645 shares were split, 20 for 1, and after Edsel's death there were 3,452,000 shares at $5 par outstanding.

It is believed there has been but

Phone Strike Situation Here Is Unchanged

Nearly 18,000 Phones Are Silent For Second Day—Few Of Usual Daily 104,000 Calls Made

PICKETS REMAIN ON MARCH TODAY

New Castle's 17,000 telephones were silent again today as the nation-wide telephone strike entered its second day with no change in the situation. Only emergency calls are being put through, and the pickets are still walking their monotonous beat in front of the local telephone exchange, and their plant facilities.

Over 100,000 Calls Daily

Traffic Manager Earl McKissock and local Manager N. N. Jequish expressed their appreciation today at the splendid cooperation today at the announcement which greeted patrons that only emergency service was available. In only a very few instances did patrons attempt to argue the matter, it was stated. This is all the more remarkable because of the fact that normally 104,000 phone calls are registered per day here.

Manager Jequish stated that an emergency is classified as a matter of life or death, or a phone call to (Continued on Page Two)

Radio Transmitter Delays Flight Of Round World Plane

Hope To Have Long Wave Radio Fixed For Flight To Start Around 6 P. M.

NEWARK, N. J., April 8.—(INS)—Last-minute failure of the long wave radio transmitter, delayed still further today the round-the-world flight of "The Reynolds Bombshell."

Millon Reynolds, Chicago, pilot, William P. Odom and Carroll (Tex.) Sallee, had the plane all set to hop off to Paris on the first leg of the global flight at 7 a. m. (EST) today, when the latest mishap occurred.

May Start Today

It was then decided to make the necessary repairs in the hope that the converted A-26 bomber might be able to take off by 6 p. m. (EST).

The pilots were in the ship, ready for the take off, when a final radio test disclosed the long wave transmitter failure.

Repair should be completed by noon today, after which the plane will be fueled with nearly 2,500 gallons of gas. Then a test flight will be made before a final decision on the take-off is reached.

The two pilots rested meanwhile until repairs are completed.

The round-the-world flight is being made in an effort to cut the mark of 91 hours and 14 minutes, set by Howard Hughes. Landings are scheduled for Paris, Cairo, Karachi, Shanghai, Tokyo and Anchorage, before returning to New York.

BLAST ROCKS TEL AVIV

LONDON, April 8.—(INS)—The London Daily Graphic reported today that an explosion rocked the all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv in Palestine.

The paper also said a British sentry shot and killed a Jew in Jerusalem, when the latter failed to halt as ordered.

Deputies Finish Work On Articles Of Austrian Pact

Predict Many Stormy Sessions Before Big Four Council Reaches Agreement

COMPROMISE IS ONLY SOLUTION

By KINGSBURY SMITH
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, April 8.—The foreign ministers' deputies completed work in Moscow today on 53 articles of the Austrian treaty which have been under discussion since the London talks began last Jan. 14.

At a session that was described as "a 45 minutes steam-roller operation," the deputies adjourned and will not meet again unless specifically requested by the Big Four foreign ministers.

Force Stormy Sessions

Observers predicted many stormy council sessions before final agreement on various controversial issues that have defied solution.

The atmosphere of the unbroken contention marking the deputies' talks on the draft was so intense as to lead one deputy to remark:

"Frankly, it does not look too good. They (The Russians) have not given in on a thing."

Meanwhile, a drafting committee prepared to make a routine arrangement of phrasing of articles for presentation to the foreign ministers.

Flood Waters In North Area Slowly Recede

(By International News Service)

Flood waters were receding today from hard-hit northwestern Pennsylvania communities, leaving in their wake muck and debris and wide-spread damage.

Meadville, which suffered more than any other community, was still partially under water from the swirling overflow of French creek.

Authorities reported that nearly 3,000 persons were forced from their homes in the vicinity. Damage was expected to reach the million dollar mark, in what was termed the worst flood in the city's history.

In smaller towns north of Meadville, the rampaging water had already receded, police said.

The Allegheny river and Conewango creek likewise were returning to their banks. Warren and damage was estimated at $750,000 after the flood crested at 17 feet.

Gov. Dewey Signs New Law To Hit Red Membership

ALBANY, N. Y., April 8.—(INS)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey today signed a bill which may require New York state communists to make public their list of members.

The bill, sponsored by Assemblyman George Archinal, Queens Republican, authorizes the attorney-general to compel oath-bound organizations to divulge their membership lists.

Archinal said during legislative debate that the measure was aimed at the communists, but there is a dispute among legal experts at the capitol as to whether the bill actually will force them to file the names of their members.

Attorney General Nathan L. Goldstein is expected to rule soon as to the exact scope of the new law.

WALLACE'S PLANE LANDS IN LONDON

LONDON, April 8.—(INS)—Former U. S. Vice President Henry Wallace arrived at London airport today on a flight from the United States. He is to make a three-weeks visit to England, France and the Scandinavian countries.

Prior to taking off yesterday from New York's LaGuardia Field, Wallace said his sojourn would be devoted to seeking "those elements most interested in the unity of the world."

King Christian Survives Heart Attack Sunday

COPENHAGEN, April 8.—(INS)—King Christian X, 76-year-old Danish monarch, was revealed today to have suffered a heart attack Sunday but was said to have recovered already.

Though the attack occurred Sunday, it was kept secret until today when officials revealed also that the Crown Prince was called back to Copenhagen from a vacation in Stockholm.

(Reuters reported that the Danish king has been ordered to bed by his physician because of fatigue caused by a heart infection.)

Gromyko Makes Proposal To U.N. On Aid To Greece

Would Have Commission Named To Supervise Direct Aid To Greece

PROPOSITION GETS COLD RECEPTION

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., April 8.—Soviet Russia's move to confront the United States with existence of a United Nations commission empowered to supervise the direct aid program to Greece was believed headed for the rocks today after a cold reception at Lake Success.

Soviet delegate Andrei Gromyko, in a third long speech before the eleven-nation security council yesterday, suddenly announced that he desired to have the following suggestion considered as a formal proposal:

Appointment by the security council of its own commission to supervise direct American aid to Greece, to be responsible for making certain that the economic help given will be applied exclusively for the welfare of the Greek people.

To Continue Discussion

The council agreed to reconvene to continue discussions of the United States aid program as outlined recently in the speech of U. S. Representative Warren R. Austin on Thursday morning.

Although the consensus among delegates immediately after the Soviet proposal was that such a move has little chance of being approved by the United States diplomatic observers drew attention to the fact that Gromyko skillfully has "left the door open" and "a way out" for sponsors of the Truman doctrine to overcome the criticism that they by-passed the United Nations.

Will Have Reply Ready

Competent observers stressed, however, that the taciturn Russian also implied in his proposal that the aid Russia envisaged under the security council's supervision was solely of economic nature calculated to help the Greek people recover from the effects of war and occupation.

Warren R. Austin, chief U. S. representative at Lake Success, shrugged off direct comment but indicated that by next Thursday he would have his reply ready on that point after consultations with Washington. A number of the other delegates expressed doubts as to whether congress would consent to handing the United Nations full control of spending the American taxpayers' money in the form suggested by Russia.

Auto Industry In Mourning For Ford

DETROIT, April 8.—(INS)—The automobile industry was shocked and grieved by the death last night of Henry Ford.

Speaking for the industry as a whole, George Romney, managing director of the Automobile Manufacturers Association (with whom Ford had carried on a feud since the days of the Selden patent suits) declared:

"The entire industry, the nation and the entire world will be forever indebted to Mr. Ford."

He made automobiles available to all the people and not just a product for the wealthy.

"He will be missed by everyone."

Industry Begins To Feel Effect Of Coal Mines Tieup

Reports Indicate Increased Number Of Miners Are Returning To Work

MINE INSPECTIONS ARE IN PROGRESS

(BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, April 8.—(INS)—John L. Lewis today directed his 400,000 soft coal miners to return to work as rapidly as the bituminous pits are certified as safe by federal mine inspectors.

PITTSBURGH, April 8.—(INS)—An increased number of soft coal miners reported for work today while union officials sought to keep them from the pits until they were federally inspected.

At the same time roving bands of miners were reported restraining maintenance men from entering the collieries to enforce the UMW "safety strike" edict.

Mine operators contended a lack of proper maintenance may disable the operations for an indefinite time, causing floods and damage to expensive machinery and equipment.

Steel Industry Affected

The steel industry began to reel under the work stoppage of the nation's 400,000 diggers and operators held little hope for a complete speedy recovery.

Large scale lay-offs in steel manufacturing and railroads are expected within a few days.

The Pennsylvania railroad, the country's largest coal hauler, already has sent 1500 trainmen home. More lay-offs are expected within the next two days. The railroad, which normally carries 26,000 cars of coal a week, anticipated a drop to 4,000 this week.

Steel mills will commence furnishing employees by Wednesday. (Continued on Page Two)

Oil Truck-Bus Wreck Kills Nine South Of Seattle

SEATTLE, April 8.—(INS)—The collision of an oil truck and a northbound Portland to Seattle bus, which plunged into the Duwamish waterway south of Seattle, left nine persons dead and 11 injured today.

The North Coast Lines bus, with 19 persons and the drive aboard, crashed into the oil truck last night.

The truck driver, Talford Smith, 22, Seattle, was thrown to the highway and died of injuries.

Veered Across Highway

Witnesses said the bus veered across the highway, snapped a utility pole, broke through a guard rail, hurtled off a 15-foot-high bank of the Duwamish river and hit pilings 25 feet out in the water.

Passengers screamed as the bus submerged.

An instant later, the emergency door popped open and William E. Cummings, a youth from Spokane, splashed to safety. He was the only passenger in the bus to escape injury.

The dazed bus driver, Melvin D. Long, 22, of Olympia, Wash., kicked his way through the windshield and then aided passengers. Later, he was taken to a hospital suffering from leg injuries and shock.

RAILROAD HERO DIES SUDDENLY

BUTLER, Pa., April 8.—(INS)—Frank D. Collier, 61, who at one time leaped from his locomotive to rescue three people from drowning, died of a heart attack while rolling his lawn in Butler, the coroner's office reported.

Collier was acclaimed as a hero after he jumped from his engine at Brookville, Pa., July 25, 1919, and saved Elizabeth Pifer, 13, Beulah Arthur, 28, and Robert Arthur, 29, pulling them from the waters of North Fork Creek. He was awarded the Carnegie Medal and $1,000 for his act of heroism.

DRIVER IS ACQUITTED

PITTSBURGH, April 8.—(INS)—J. J. Rodgers, 37, of suburban Bellevue, today had been acquitted of a hit-run driving charge in connection with the death of a Pittsburgh man last fall.

Rodgers was freed in a non-jury trial before Judge A. Marshall Thompson on a charge of failing to stop after his automobile struck John Likachik, 32, who was repairing the tire of his own automobile.

Founder Of Ford Motor Empire Dies At Dearborn Estate

Death Occurs Shortly Before Midnight, Few Minutes After He Was Taken Ill

Wife Was At Bedside When He Expired—Was Nearing His 84th Birthday

(BULLETIN)

DETROIT, April 8.—(INS)—Henry Ford, Founder of the Ford Motor Company and the father of modern mass production, died quietly last night at his Dearborn estate.

He would have been 84 on his next birthday, July 30.

His personal physician, Dr. John Mateer, said death was due to a cerebral hemorrhage.

The tired industrial genius died at 11:40 p. m., attended only by his wife, Clara, and a servant.

Funeral services will be held Thursday. The body was taken to the William R. Hamilton funeral home and will lie in state in the recreation hall, Greenfield Village, from Wednesday at 8 a. m. until time for the funeral.

The public was invited to view the body. Services will be held at St. Paul's Episcopal Cathedral.

Plants Closed

The River Rouge plant and all of the Ford properties throughout the world will be closed that day, their flags flying at half staff.

He had awakened shortly after 11 p. m., feeling ill, and died before a doctor could be summoned.

The end came for one of the world's richest men in an isolated, unheated lamp-lighted home.

There was no telephone in service at his estate, Fairlane, cut off from the outside world by the flooding of the River Rouge.

The only lights were flickering lamps and candles. The only heat was from a fireplace.

The Fords would have been married 59 years next Friday.

Inspected Flooded Estate

Ford spent his final day inspecting his flooded estate, visiting the great River Rouge plant which he dreamed and created, and had stopped a while at his beloved Greenfield Village.

He had visited his huge freighter, the Henry Ford II, which he faced (Continued on Page Seven)

New York Phone Service Reported As Near Normal

New Jersey Seizure Of Phone Lines Fails To Bring Workers Back To Jobs

NEW YORK, April 8.—(INS)—Telephone service in New York was maintained at almost normal today despite the walkout of between 80,000 and 90,000 Bell System workers in the metropolitan area.

Automatic dial phones serving 2,127,000 subscribers worked perfectly.

Suburban areas and long distance calls suffered and the telephone company said only about one-fifth of the normal number of calls were being handled. All emergency calls were put through promptly with executives and supervisory employees handling the switchboards.

Stay Away From Jobs

In New Jersey where the state took over the facilities of the phone company under a utility anti-strike law, the workers remained away from the switchboards. Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll said he would ask the legislature to provide stringent penalties for workers remaining away from work after the state has taken over a utility.

Gov. Driscoll said the present law requires employees to return to work after the state takes over a utility but no penalties are provided if the employees ignore the statute as they have done in the present walkout.

As an off-shot of the telephone strike some 60,000 of the 80,000 workers employed by the Western Electric Company also went on strike. They are demanding virtually the same pay boosts and working conditions that the telephone workers are asking.

Vandenberg To Answer Soviet

Will Reply To Russia's Charge U. S. Is Undermining United Nations

WASHINGTON, April 8.—(INS)—Sen. Vandenberg (R) Mich., coupled the opening of Senate debate on Greece-Turkish aid today with a promised answer to Russia's charge that the U. S. program is "undermining" the United Nations.

There were indications that the foreign relations chairman's Senate speech may rival in bluntness his 564 question of 1946—"What is Russia up to now?"

Predicts Approval

Awaiting the Vandenberg opener, Sen. Connally (D) Tex., minority spokesman on foreign policy, predicted "overwhelming" Senate approval of the President's bill to pump $400,000,000 into Greece and Turkey as a stop-communism move.

Connally said:

"There won't be a dozen votes against the bill."

The historic Senate debate opened against the background of Soviet Delegate Andrei Gromyko's address in the UN Security Council condemning American assistance as interference in Greek-Turkish internal affairs.

Gromyko's remarks drew some thinly-veiled commendation from Senate opponents of the President's program.

Sen. Johnson (D) Colo., who seeks to eliminate all military assistance and rule out Turkish aid entirely, said:

"I don't want to pour any water on Mr. Gromyko's wheel, but he has pointed out the unfortunate weakness in our position."

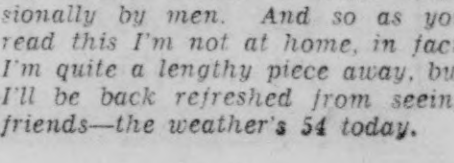

Vandenberg, a veteran of rough-and-tumble debate with Gromyko as an American participant in UN affairs, said he would make his "answer to Gromyko in his formal speech today."

IRONICAL EVENTS

SEATTLE, April 8.—(INS)—Ironically, at almost precisely the instant that a North Coast Lines bus collided with an oil truck, causing nine deaths and 11 injuries, eight drivers for the same line and a driver for an oil truck company were being honored in Seattle.

Each was presented with a gold watch—for safe driving.

Arthur Mometer

I like to slip away just now and then to see the folks I knew long years ago, to see the faces I've not seen a while, and maybe spend a little hard-earned dough. Extravagant, you say, well, possibly, to toss a careless shkel now and then, but I think, and should be done occasionally by men. And so you read this I'm not at home, in fact, I'm quite a lengthy piece away, but I'll be back refreshed from seeing friends—the weather's 54 today.

Vet Officers Meet Wednesday

Representatives To Conduct Panel Discussion At Next Meeting In Court House

Third of a series of meetings designed to acquaint chosen officers of veterans' organization of the county with work dealing with ex-servicemen's claims will be held Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at the court house.

At that time a "test case" involving claims by a veteran will be discussed in full—each department in the county able to render aid having the floor to explain its part in the procedure.

Scheduled to partake in the panel discussion are the following: John Brinton of the Department of Public Assistance, Ralph Jordan of the Pennsylvania Employment Service, Frank Sargent of the Veterans' Advisory Council, Mrs. Louise McConnell of the American Red Cross, James Gurley of the Veterans Administration, Joseph Travers of the Lawrence County commissioners, and Lewis Conn, representing the county officer of veterans affairs and the Pennsylvania Veterans committee.

Will Explain Role

Each organization will explain just how local resources can be employed to aid the veteran in all phases of assistance needed. A more streamlined and closer knit procedural policy is expected to emerge from this meeting, and at the same time claims officers candidates, attending these sessions, will become better equipped to cope with questions arising within their own groups.

All representatives are strongly urged to attend the session.

FEAR MAN LOST

PARRELL, Pa., April 8—(INS)—Fellow-workers today expressed fears that 52-year-old Frank Testani might have been carried into a blast furnace at the Parrell Works of the Sharon Steel Corp., where he worked as a hoist operator.

Testani, missing since Friday night, was last seen working at the blast furnace hoist. Guards at the plant said he did not check out.

INDUSTRY BEGINS TO FEEL EFFECT OF COAL MINES TIIEUP

The automobile industry probably will feel the effects of the shutdown within 10 days.

Blast Furnaces Out

Steel production in the Pittsburgh-Youngstown (Ohio) area already has dipped. U. S. Steel has taken the equivalent of eight blast furnaces out of production which reduced pig iron output by 7,000 tons a week.

In the wealthy Pennsylvania and West Virginia bituminous fields, which employ over 50 per cent of the UMW membership, coal production was higher yesterday than anticipated. Illinois, Tennessee, Alabama and other soft coal producing states reported only a few miners at work.

The Solid Fuels Administration, meanwhile, reported about 20 per cent of normal production. Only 145 out of 660 mines in Pennsylvania were in production, and West Virginia Mine Commissioner Arch Alexander said only 10,000 of the state's 107,000 miners worked yesterday.

Some Miners Return

Mine operators reported that in many instances miners over-ruled union officials and reopened the pits after the week-long memorial holiday for the 111 Wamag, Ill., disaster victims.

A high ranking official in the Pittsburgh Coal Mine Administration said the 518 mines ordered closed by Interior Secretary Krug would be inspected first because "these mines have a gas explosive hazard," adding:

"It may take several weeks to inspect all the mines not in operation. It requires an average of one day to check a mine. Some take several days and others only a few hours."

Mine operators balked at the inspection system and charged they were being penalized because federal inspectors were first checking the 518 mines declared unsafe by Krug.

AUTO FIRE

Fourth ward firemen were called to John street at 8:10 o'clock this morning, when a broken hose connection caused alcohol in the auto of Clarence Harper to ignite. Damage of around $40 was done. Acting Fire Chief George W. Harper reports.

ject to stringent inheritance taxes which may hit the remainder of the Ford fortune.

Under the leadership of Henry Ford II, who took over the helm of the Ford industrial empire in 1945, many of the Ford enterprises not directly connected with the manufacture of automobiles have been shelved.

Some Are Sold

Most of the "village industries" in Michigan have been sold; only those directly needed in making Ford cars have been retained, and only those which could produce at a profit things the Ford factories need.

Thousands of fertile acres in Michigan which Ford bought in his "back-to-the-land" program in the 1920s are for sale or have been sold.

The soy bean era ended last fall with the sale of the last soy bean processing plant near Detroit owned by Ford.

The Ford wealth consists of the vast and far-flung Ford manufacturing and assembling plants—from the east coast to California; the huge River Rouge plant, the heart of the empire; and money and stocks, value of which is not known.

Only a small proportion of Ford stock is "voting stock" and the arrangement is believed similar to that of Ford of Canada, where only 70,000 of almost 1 1/2 million shares have voting rights.

Control of the company thus rests with holders of voting shares, although both types receive dividends.

CMA reported that approximately 200 certifications, from inspectors, operating managers and union safety committees had been received. Some of the UMW certifications were withdrawn, however, after Lewis' request of last Saturday.

Each certification received by the government is checked carefully to determine whether the mine is operating. In cases calling for reinspection, inspectors are rushed to the mines.

over a long distance wire from Butler, and was in continuous operation, N. N. Jauch, local manager, states. If one kept connected long enough, he would hear it repeated.

State police and city police headquarters are as quiet as a "church mouse"; that is, insofar as telephone service is concerned. Usually the telephones in both places, "buzz" often and a man assigned to desk duty, is kept busy answering complaints. However, the telephone strike has changed this. Now few calls are received. However, the police, in emergency can use the telephone.

Although there was a heavy frost this morning, no damage was done to fruit or tender vegetation, because it isn't out yet. A year ago yesterday morning, however, the fruit crop in the local area was ruined due to a heavy freeze, when the mercury dropped down to 22 degrees. Everything was in bloom at that time. Just to make sure, that little escaped, there was a second heavy frost on the morning of the 10th of April.

It was probably just a coincidence, but the program of service in one of the local churches had the following on Easter morning. Following the usual prefatory services the sermon by the pastor was announced and just below the sermon was the announcement that the choir would sing "Awake Thou That Sleepest."

The height of utility was experienced by many telephone patrons yesterday, when they attempted to get a telephone number, and were greeted by the recorded announcement that only emergency calls were being handled due to the work stoppage. Many instances were reported of folks who attempted to argue back to the recorded announcement, which of course had a very deaf ear.

Pa News and staff in the editorial rooms of The News are having something of an "unblock" experience due to the telephone tieup. Instead of telephones ringing almost constantly during the morning hours, there has been largely silence from the phones for two days. Working under such conditions is a novelty in a newspaper office. It seems rather unnatural.

request police or fire assistance, and these are the only calls being accepted.

Teletype Service

The company has even installed teletype service here for business communication between the local offices, and to Pittsburgh, the western area office, in order that the meager service available can be used only for emergencies.

Everything is orderly, just as it was yesterday. Many of the operators, who work at the local exchange, took up their station in a garage display room across the street to watch proceedings yesterday and a lot of them were still there today, waiting for the announcement that the strike is over and that they can go back to work.

Service in a number of nearby communities is normal, no pickets being established. This is true in Ellwood City, as well as Sharon, Greenville and other localities within the local district. Mr. Jauch stated today.

agreement on the withdrawal of Allied troops from Austria within 90 days after a treaty come into force.

Soviets Not In Agreement

Only the western powers, however, have been able to find agreement on a date for withdrawal of the Allied control council in Austria. The Soviets continued to insist the council should remain in operation until all troops have been withdrawn.

So many articles of disagreement still remain that there was little chance of the ministers settling on an Austrian peace unless some one produces a new and unexpected compromise.

An American spokesman said the Soviets could "pull the plug" on many blocked articles by following through to an agreement on such key issues as German assets in Austria.

He refused to predict a treaty.

APPRECIATION

Being a member of the United Commercial Travelers, New Castle Council No. 408, and also a Grand Executive Committeeman of the State of Pennsylvania for same, I want to thank the men in New Castle, whom we contacted in the last year, and were given an opportunity to join our Organization.

The kind consideration that was given those members who contacted, those who were eligible to become members, brings to our attention the kind of men that our Organization is made up of.

To those who did not join our Organization, we certainly appreciate the treatment and kindness shown those who called on them. To those who did become members of our Organization, we want to extend a hand of fellowship, and hope that they will never regret their actions, and the longer they are members, the better satisfied they will be.

Women's Club Hears Talk On National Gallery Of Art

"Works of art are primarily to be enjoyed," John Walker, chief curator of the National Gallery of Art, Washington, D. C., told the Women's club in an address Monday afternoon on "The National Gallery After Five Years." In his introductory remarks, Mr. Walker deplored the inclination in America to overrate the savant and understate the connoisseur since it is the latter who can teach us enjoyment of works of art, he said.

Speaking with charm and humor Mr. Walker imparted to the audience something of his own keen appreciation of the great art treasures to be viewed in the National Gallery.

"When you come to Washington," he suggested, "don't try to see the whole gallery in a day and if you prefer to view it in comfort, ask to be taken around in a wheel chair, he suggested.

His talk was illustrated by colored slides of the gallery's treasures, ranging from the pictures of the Florentine painters of the fourteenth century, through a number of examples of the Renaissance, on through the Flemish, English, American and French masters of painting. Many came to the National Gallery with the Widener collection and there were several that came to this country from Russia on purchase by Mr. Mellon. Mr. Walker was introduced to the audience by Mrs. E. L. Vincent.

To open the program, Earl Hammond, accompanied at the piano by Edwin Lewis, sang two solos, "I Heard a Lady Sigh" and "Love Has Eyes."

Pledge of allegiance to the flag led by Mrs. J. Edward Everett, president, followed the call to order.

During the business meeting, ten new members were received into membership following the presentation of names by Mrs. Glen Carpenter.

The club voted to take five Greek memberships in the Near East Foundation.

Mrs. Ellis G. Diefenderfer was appointed corresponding secretary to fill a vacancy caused by the resignation of the present corresponding secretary.

Plans for the Lawrence County Federation of Women's club spring election meeting to take place April 15 in the First Methodist church were announced by Mrs. Lucien Black, federation president. Slate of officers prepared by the nominating committee was read. Reservations for luncheon are in charge of Mrs. William Carr, of the Junior Reading Circle.

Hostesses for Monday's meeting were Mrs. R. L. Hildebrand, Mrs. Alec Samuels, Mrs. John Ingham, and Mrs. M. Schoenberger. Next meeting will be May 12 in Highland U. P. church when Dean R. H. Moor, of Trinity Cathedral, Pittsburgh, will speak on "Relaxation, Peace and Power."

Washington Calling

By Marquis Childs

See Major Theme For Truman Campaign

WASHINGTON, April 8.—At one point in his Jefferson Day speech, President Truman sounded a note that was strongly reminiscent of the past. Praising the present record level of prosperity and employment, Mr. Truman seemed to echo Herbert Hoover's proud boast of 1928 and the first half of 1929. While he did not claim the current prosperity for himself or his party, as Hoover did in that earlier time, this was nevertheless implied in what was a skillful political speech. If the present prosperity lasts through 1948, it will certainly be the major theme in the Truman campaign for re-election.

'Coolidge With Grin'
A Republican senator in conversation the other day referred to Mr. Truman as "Calvin Coolidge with a grin." While this was intended in half-humorous disparagement of the President, it is not entirely beside the mark. The President and the men around him want to present to the world the appearance of a man who stands by his principles but does not go out of his way to seek political trouble.

The $64 question for 1948 is how long the present boom will endure. If it carries through November of next year, what was considered impossible six months ago may come to pass and Mr. Truman may be re-elected for a four-year term. Having stressed the theme of prosperity, Mr. Truman, later in his address to Democrats who had paid $100 a plate to hear him, threw in a warning note. He expressed "deep concern" over the level of prices prevailing today. "A system of free enterprise does not automatically work out its own adjustments without our giving thought to the process."

Little To Quarrel With
It was as though a paragraph or two out of another speech had been pasted into the Jefferson Day address by mistake. For earlier Mr. Truman had spoken in ringing praise of the free enterprise system, chiding those whose lack of confidence led them to predict something less than the present prosperity wave.

With the main theme of the President's address, even the most carping Republicans found it hard to quarrel. That is, that America must be strong in order to shoulder

APPEARS TO BE THE RIGHT MAN

History will some day record more accurately the stature of General George C. Marshall as the Secretary of State. Presently we are too close to the international canvas to fully appreciate the picture that is being painted.

Close as we are it is our opinion that in General Marshall, the United States has the right man in the right place. Perhaps he lacks the velvet touch of the professional diplomat, his technique may be considered a little brusque but we believe these are times for a touch of brusqueness.

It seems to us that in his dealings with Russia, General Marshall is in the position of a card player calling an opponent's bluff. In the opinion of many who are qualified to judge, Russia is and has been conducting an international bluff and because of the use of rough methods has been getting away with it.

General Marshall is not unacquainted with rough methods where and when they are needed. His curt refusal to agree to ten billions of reparations to be paid by Germany to Russia over a period of twenty years is to our liking. If Germany pays any great reparations to anybody, somebody is going to have to pour it into Germany and that somebody would be Uncle Sam if some of the other countries had their way. It would be merely a detoured routing of American money into Russian coffers.

We want Russia for a friendly ally of course. Most Americans agree that so long as Russia does not try to impinge her political philosophies upon us, she can have any form of government she pleases. But as much as we want Russia for a friendly ally we would be blind to our future interests if we permitted her to call the tune of the peace.

Russia knows only force in settling her own problems. Perhaps she understands that better in dealing with other nations and we believe General Marshall is the man to deal.

REMEMBER THE TAXPAYER

The shadow of a presidential veto clouds the prospects for a reduction in personal income taxes this year, as provided by the bill passed by the Republican majority in the House of Representatives. That measure providing for graduated reductions, ranging from 3 to 10½ per cent and retroactive to January 1, faces a hard fight in the Senate, which is likely to make it effective only for the last half of 1947.

After it passes the Senate the bill still must be signed by the President, and Mr. Truman is firmly on record against any reductions in taxes. A presidential veto would require the Republican leadership to muster a two-thirds vote to override the President. It is likely that the House leadership could do that, but most observers believe that no such possibility exists in the Senate. Thus the final result would be no tax cut at all this year.

All of this will have a strong bearing on the 1948 campaign. A presidential veto of such a tax bill would provide the Republicans with a ready-made issue. "We tried to cut your taxes," they could say to the voters, "but the Democrats wouldn't let us."

From the standpoint of the economic welfare, particularly if there is a dip in business conditions this summer, judicious tax reductions might be wholesome, provided they allow sufficient margin for debt payments and the nation's security needs. Such reductions would channel more purchasing power into productive fields and would help to ease the pressure on incomes from rising living costs.

Moreover, action now might avoid pitching this highly controversial issue into a campaign-year Congress. It would be well for politicians to forget politics for the moment and remember the taxpayers.

UP IN THE AIR

In this three-dimensional age, the helicopter may become the poor man's airplane. One model now being developed is simply strapped to a man's back, like an outboard motor. It will go straight up, or take him at 60 miles an hour to any spot that has a landing space 25 feet square.

If he wants to escape his mother-in-law or his creditors, he can simply go straight up and hover until his persecutor slinks away.

Quite an idea, this notion of putting an outboard motor on a man!

Another one-man model, slightly larger, has an enclosed seat, landing wheels and a single guiding stick. It can probably be sold in quantity for $750.

A future campaign slogan may be: "Two helicopters on every roof!"

The communists who could not remember his name when he appeared before a congressional committee, has had a relapse of memory.

Practitioners of the new diplomacy who deny it is "dollar diplomacy" are stumped when asked to explain why it requires so many dollars.

Any time you have money to burn it's easy to find a match.

Well, Here We Go Again!

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

CHILD SHOULD BE TOLD OF PARENT'S DEATH

A good many young children have not been told of the father's death, especially when the death occurred away from home, as during the war. While the purpose of this secrecy was to save the child from sorrow, the actual result usually is the opposite. His suffering seems to be far greater when he finally knows the truth (which hardly can be kept from him). He may suffer still more from discovering that he has been deceived. Still worse has been the cloud of strain and hush-hush hovering over him in the meanwhile. Any matter involving so much emotional strain and conflict creates an atmosphere which even the infant can feel, though he cannot understand. Emotional secrets of a parent can be wholly hidden from the child. One mother writes: "Dear Dr. Myers: "My daughter lost her husband two years ago. Her little boy then has not been told of his father's death. At this time he was too little to understand, so no one told him. He has been taught to recognize his dad's picture. The other day he said he had his dad's knife and if he ever saw him he was going to give it to him."

Fear Of Being Alone
"He has a fear of being alone and will not go out to play unless his mother or someone else is with him. I believe in his childish mind or subconsciousness he is afraid everyone will go away and leave him as his daddy did. I had an operation last summer and when I explained to him I was going to the hospital he asked, 'Are you coming back?' All he knows is that his dad went away and didn't come back. I believe if he knew his father didn't leave him voluntarily that fear would be removed and he'd feel secure. Would you advise how he should be told or if he should be told now?"

My reply, in part: When the mother is wholly poised she should tell the boy in a very matter-of-fact way that his father died. Too bad she supposed he was too little to understand. The younger the child, the easier for him to adjust gradually to such tragedies.

Might Not Cure Him
Although apprising this child now of his father's death two years ago should help the child in the long run, it might not wholly cure him of his dislike of being out of his mother's sight. Thousands of little children both of whose parents are living together companionably are, like this child, emotionally dependent.

He needs to spend much time with other children of his age and be in the care of an adult other than yourself or the mother. He needs to learn more self-reliance as in as many ways as possible. I am

One Man's Opinion

By Walter Kiernan

Millions of persons with important business to transact immediately by telephone find it can wait indefinitely.

We all know now how the girl feels whose phone never rings.

Her trouble is generally ascribed to not using the right soap to rinse her handkerchiefs. Monday Proctor couldn't even get Gamble.

In New York you could call the fire department but it was too warm to start a fire.

One woman tried the phone and the voice said "Did you wish to call a doctor?" She said "Don't be silly, my son is a doctor."

The voice said "Then you can't make a call." The woman said "So all right. Call my son, the doctor, and tell him he should stop at the butcher's and bring home two pounds of liverwurst."

Your phone rang? Excuse me please. . . it was a mistake.

From Me To You

By MESEALL

Not only are the birds . . . the robins . . . the martins . . . and the like arriving in droves . . . and the flowers popping their heads out of the ground. And a young man's fancy turning to love . . . but spring is doing something else this year. Look around town. Several places that heretofore have been unclaimed for housing . . . are today under the shovel. Quite a few power shovels started yesterday morning to whip out a cellar.

And what is more interesting to watch than a power shovel with an expert at the controls . . . The New Castle Duntle have a shovel working up Highland avenue way . . . and from the looks of the cellar that was dug yesterday . . . the chap operating the shovel could probably qualify for a mathematical degree. The sides of the cellar hole are straight as if they were tooled in a machine shop . . . wonderful piece of work . . . Oh but spring is interesting.

Yesterday . . . the Mayor of New Castle and all councilmen . . . traveled to the new location for the new City building . . . and with little ceremony the mayor lifted the first shovel of dirt . . . thus beginning the work on a new building which will be completed in stages . . . Right now just the concrete foundation will be laid.

Have you been up County Court House way . . . it's very interesting now . . . the County Commissioners have gone to great pains to save you taxpayers a lot of money and time . . . The new system they have adopted for putting out the tax bills is really something to see . . . some of the oldtimers around the "big building" don't like such carrying on . . . but that seems true with a lot of folks who grow up doing a job one way . . . Sometimes it's difficult to make a change . . . sometimes the changes that are made don't do the job as well as the old way . . . and then the oldtimer is right . . . Well if this modern method in the county building doesn't work . . . the County Commissioners will take all the blame . . . just as they are taking all the credit . . . fair it seems. So no fooling folks . . . you should take a trip up the "hill" and look around. Very interesting.

TEACHERS

Teachers are very important parts of our community. All of our children are in the care of teachers for a large part of the time.

The things which teachers say are very important. The things which teachers do are very important also.

The disposition, character and personality of teachers are most important.

A teacher may be teaching arithmetic but her pupil may learn a lot about politics, religion or economics from her.

We can show our appreciation of good teachers by generous respect, honor and salary, these three, but perhaps the greatest of these is salary.

Looking At Life

By ERIC BRANDEIS

Spring fever has got me!

Here I am sitting in my New York office looking out the window at a lot of ugly roofs and littered sidewalks.

I get just a glimpse of the East river but there is fog over the water and soot and dirt and filth. I see a couple of ragged bums leaning against a wall in front of a corner saloon and a couple of grimy kids pulling a cart with a lot of old newspapers across the street.

So if looking at life is not very pleasant on this morning, I either need a vacation or it is just plain spring fever.

Just before I left my little place out in the country to come into town, I took a walk through the garden.

The lilacs are in bud. The forsythia are almost ready to burst into bloom.

The crocus and the narcissus are putting on their annual flower show.

The wisteria is showing leaves. The birds are starting to build their nests.

Whenever I looked on my walk I saw signs of spring—of hope and youth and anticipation of another summer of joy.

Then on the train, I opened my paper and I started to read.

Trouble in Europe. Trouble in India. Trouble in Korea. Trouble in Washington. Trouble in Georgia.

A few murders—another wife shoots her husband, another woman killed in Los Angeles.

The usual number of holdups and robberies. A train wreck. Another plane smashed. A building collapses.

Franklin P. Adams of "Information Please" fame gets on the train. He sits down with me. I tell him how my lovely garden looked this morning.

"Don't be too optimistic," he comments, "the Farmers' Almanac predicts heavy storms this month, and the Farmers' Almanac is never wrong."

P. P. A. turns to his crossword puzzle, and I look out the train window and find more signs of spring all along the line.

So now I sit in my office, overlooking quite a bit of New York where spring stays hidden under dirt and grime.

But, after all, why be downhearted? In a few hours the train will take me back to my garden and to the birds and the trees and the brook where Nature tells me every minute of the day and of the starlit night.

"What fools ye mortals be!" God bless spring fever. (Copyright, 1947, Eric Brandeis, Inc.)

Question: Should candles on the dining table have shades on them? (2) Is it permissible to have electric candles on the dining table?

Answer: It is preferable to have them without shades. (2) No. This is in the worst possible taste.

Question: What is the proper way to announce a new residence after one has moved.

Answer: It is customary to mail visiting cards, bearing the new address to such friends and acquaintances as should be notified of the change. But if you do not care to do this, you might call them on the telephone and thus invite them.

Question: Is it ever proper to use salad forks for any kind of dessert or is the regular dinner fork used for that purpose?

Answer: The small fork, known as the salad fork, is also used for dessert requiring a fork. The dinner fork is never used for this purpose unless the hostess has no small ones.

Congress Resents Do-Nothing Label
Russian Bulletin Lauds Naval Heroes
Dried-Frozen Food Is Latest

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Senators on both sides of the aisle are thinking they have taken an unfair "kicking around" by columnists and cartoonists who are labeling the 80th Congress a "do-nothing" body.

There is a lot to be said for their side of the argument. Collectively the Congress has not produced much legislation for the law books yet—but it has done a tremendous amount of spadework, and the legislators, individually, have been extremely busy.

Committee work has been heavy. Reporters as well as senators have felt the brunt of that. Veterans on the Hill say that never before have so many committees held important hearings simultaneously.

Figuring in the prolonged hearings—on the Senate side—is the traditional Senate principle of allowing "full debate." Typical of that position was Senator Burke Hickenlooper (R) of Iowa who allowed the David E. Lilienthal hearings to lag on for more than six weeks.

Hickenlooper, who was there every day, was more weary than anyone else. He frequently expressed himself privately to reporters. He saw no reason for thinking that Lilienthal's qualifications. However, he would not have cut off the testimony if foes of the former TVA chairman had more to offer.

The plight of Hickenlooper is symbolic of situations which lead to "no-nothing" labels for the 80th Congress.

THE RUSSIANS ARE SAYING LITTLE publicity these days about their historic desire to control the Dardanelles. But their yen to sit astride the storied Bosphorus and have a warm Red sealane to the Mediterranean world is as expansive as a vodka jug.

Diplomatic observers, tongues-in-cheek, are noting the statement of the Russian embassy regarding the Turks, which came amid developments in President Truman's Greco-Turkish aid program.

The statement passed unnoticed in many places. It appeared in "USSR," the information bulletin of the embassy. The bulletin is the voice of Russia speaking in Washington. It portrays the Soviet mind.

Latest issue of the publication began by discussing the glories of Russian sea commanders from the days of Peter the Great to the last war. Great sailors, the bulletin observed, the match of any man who ever sailed the ocean.

Then, with less subtlety, came a discussion of the Russian fleet of yore and the Turks. The bulletin said: "In Cheshmen bay in 1770 the Russian men-of-war blockaded and burned the powerful Turkish fleet."

The bulletin also spoke of sea victories over the Scandinavian countries—the battle of Vyborg, against the Swedes, in 1790. Then it shifted back to the Turks.

"In the battle of Synop," it said, "in 1853, Admiral Nakhimov destroyed a Turkish squadron without losing a single vessel of his own." The article concluded by saying that the Red fleet of today "is not designed for conquest, but to serve the cause of peace."

THE AGRICULTURE DEPARTMENT has found a new way of preserving food that combines dehydration and freezing.

Food processors are keenly interested in this new method which the department says reduces the cost of packaging, storage, transportation and refrigeration. Moreover, fruit preserved in the new way retains its original shape.

The process, known as dehydrating, involves carrying the food through the first process of dehydration and then freezing it. Vitamins and flavor are virtually undamaged and the fresh quality of the food remains, according to agriculture department experts.

Bright note for the housewife—food prepared in this manner takes less space in the refrigerator.

In View Of The News

By J. C. Oestreicher, INS Foreign Director

The astronomic cost of maintaining peace in a world that oft-times seems edgy for new war was reflected today in a financial report from the international court of justice which sits in modest obscurity at the Hague in Holland.

At conclusion of its first year of operations following establishment by the United Nations San Francisco charter, the court reported that it had spent half a million dollars, though not a single case had been turned over to its jurisdiction.

Yet all architects of the new presumably lasting peace are convinced that the Hague court is and must continue to be in the greatest bulwark of all against new aggression by any world power.

Functions Little Known
Its composition, functions and duties are little known.

Its enormous power in the solidification of world opinion against the ambitions of any new Hitler or Mussolini has been overshadowed by the rhetoric of the security council at Lake Success.

But the world court, operating silently in a magnificent Dutch palace endowed by the Carnegie Foundation, actually is the "teeth" of the United Nations. When and if a real world crisis and persons, with political involvement, it will be to the Hague that the eyes of men, women and children will turn for a decision.

The astute Dr. Oswaldo Aranha of Brazil, a very great statesman and learned scholar, put the situation clearly into the records of the security council last week soon after he had turned over his chairmanship to a successor in accordance with the scheme of rotation.

He was crystal clear in delineating the restricted powers of the security council.

Not Conciliation Body
In discussing the complaint of Great Britain against Albania for alleged illegal mining of the Corfu channel which resulted in damage to two destroyers and loss of more than two-score lives, Aranha said: "It is not our function to conciliate parties, to harmonize differences, to negotiate understandings, to arbitrate disputes, to pronounce sentence."

"We act principally to protect and ensure international peace and security whenever these are threatened."

"We have no powers to condemn or absolve."

There is no question but that the average layman has placed great headline emphasis upon the council as the preventative factor against any new war.

Blinks At Truth
This blinks the truth that it has no punitive potentialities of its own over and above a veto or a verbal or written criticism. The men who wrote the charter had deep in mind the necessity for a political and executive organization for the civilized world, separated completely from the juridical functions which lie in the hands of the international court.

As against the cost of bombs and shells, which are doubly expensive for they destroy themselves as well as their objectives the half million dollars spent at the Hague this year probably is not excessive. It will cost a similar amount for the general assembly to hear out Britain's mandate case on Palestine.

But human lives never can be measured in terms of dollars, pounds, pence or pengoes.

Cite Bridge Loss In State During Easter $150,000

HARRISBURG, April 8.—(INS)—Preliminary state highways department surveys today indicated the loss of 34 bridges during Easter week-end floods in northern counties had cost $150,000.

Most of the bridges washed away by floods which hit the northern part of the state from Erie to Scranton were "over small streams and generally on secondary routes," the department said.

The state health department said no serious damage to any municipal water supply has been reported; a water line broke at Wellsboro and had been repaired. The water system at Cambridge Springs had been out of operation for a short time, it was added.

Four department engineers were at Wellsboro directing clean-up operations in flooded areas, according to Chief Engineer H. E. Moses.

WASHINGTON CALLING

the tremendous responsibility which is ours in the world today. That cannot be said often enough and with the clarity and firmness with which Mr. Truman said it.

Perhaps because it was, in the broader sense, a political speech, the President was privileged to ignore the paradox in American policy. The responsibility ahead of us cannot be measured by Greece and Turkey. The bounds of that responsibility are so much greater that most of us have not even begun to face up to it.

Uncontrolled Economy
Yet we propose to meet those overwhelming obligations out of a completely uncontrolled economy. When Herbert Hoover returned from Germany with his recommendation that we send more food, the first reaction was a speculative boom in grain that sent wheat to $3 a bushel.

Most controls were thrown overboard after V-J Day. Lend-lease was dropped with a hasty disregard for consequences that we shall certainly regret. In this unseemly haste to get back to normalcy there was no recognition that the world had utterly changed. It ignored the fact that if there was to be stability, then we, more than any other nation, would have to contribute to it.

Again since it was a political speech, the President was perhaps under no compulsion to point out that the present is a period of pause. England and, to a lesser degree, western Europe are living on the memory of the past and a hope for the future. That will not continue indefinitely. In fact, one can see the end fairly clearly in view.

Stock Is Rising
In this period of pause the President's stock is rising again. That has been one of the most interesting phenomena of his tenancy of the White House.

The Truman stock has undergone violent fluctuations in the market of opinion. In July of 1945 his approval rating stood at 85 per cent. Last fall it was down to 32 per cent. Today it is above 60 per cent.

Obviously these fluctuations are related not so much to what Mr. Truman does or does not do as they are to the state of the nation. Last fall there was widespread discontent over shortages and rising prices, and Mr. Truman was the only scapegoat in sight. Today the Republicans offer themselves as a prominent target.

If a year from now Mr. Truman can again proclaim American prosperity, it will mean that the major decisions have been postponed for another 12 months. And this may in turn have a lot to do with the decision on Mr. Truman's personal future.

Devotions were concluded with a prayer by Miss Grace McNulty and a poem was read by Miss Laura Bell, president of Frances Willard Union.

Mrs. W. P. Johnston, flower-mission secretary, asked for prayers for the shut-in members and reported needs for various types of books and records for the Veteran's hospital. One book of cartoons was donated by a member of the Union.

A report was made on a number of bills referred to as anti-Sabbath and liquor bills and gambling bills now before the Pennsylvania legislature.

Mrs. Allen reported that Highland is a Light Line Union.

Mrs. Allen, leader, introduced Mrs. James Dittmar, county Y. T. C. director, who gave a splendid talk on the work of temperance among youth using the theme "Train Up a Child in the Way He Should Go."

Temperance posters made by local school children were on display; also some very interesting posters made by Mrs. Frank Fehl in her work with the L. T. L.

A discussion of the proposed "Clinic for Alcoholics" followed, in which the consensus of opinion was that it be financed by a tax paid by the liquor industry instead of by taxing the citizens in general. It was also brought out that Pennsylvania spends three times as much for beverage alcohol as it spends for education.

The next meeting will be an open meeting at the Salvation Army home on Thursday, May 1st. Delicious refreshments were served

J. H. W. SOCIETY
DISCUSSES "INDIA"

"India" was subject for discussion Monday evening, when Jean Hill Williamson Missionary society of Highland U. P. church, gathered in the home of Mrs. E. E. Grotefend, of West Wallace avenue.

Using "Evangelism," theme for the group's new church year as her topic, Miss Margaret McCreary conducted appropriate devotions. Mrs. Irvine A. Balph told of the missionary work of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Balph in Lahore, India. Mr. and Mrs. Balph, former residents of New Castle, are under sponsorship of Christ Mission, of Youngstown, O. The speaker read excerpts of an interesting letter from her sister-in-law.

Mrs. Grotefend gave an excellent resume of Modak's book "The Lord and the People of India." India produces as much wheat as Canada and has the best irrigation project in the world. The British have done a good job in India, mother of all Western culture. Mrs. Grotefend concluded by saying, "We should have an optimistic view of India."

Mrs. Samuel Staats, newly-elected president, appointed Mrs. Russell Tait, Mrs. Irvine A. Balph and Mrs. T. I. Elliott as delegates to Beaver Valley presbytery which will take place Thursday, April 17, at Second U. P. church. Women of the various missionary societies of Highland church will pack missionary boxes at the church Wednesday, April 9.

Recordings of the McGill family, made in Cairo, Egypt, were later enjoyed. Mr. and Mrs. Willis A. McGill are foreign representatives of Highland congregation.

Dainty refreshments were served buffet style from a tastefully appointed table, centered with double yellow tulips and matching tapers in crystal candelabra. Mrs. Staats presided at the tea service. Mrs. E. F. Henderson, Miss Myrtle Lord, Mrs. Stephen O. Lewis, Mrs. T. I. Elliott, Miss Elizabeth Parker, and Mrs. A. D. Shifflet comprised the hostesses. The group will have a mothers-daughters banquet at the church Monday evening, May 5.

Search Continues For Missing Boy Near Philipsburg

Hope Dims Of Finding Jimmy Sener, Four, Alive; Comb Mountains

PHILIPSBURG, Pa., April 8.—(INS)—Weary searchers today continued to comb the cold, windswept mountains near Philipsburg for four-year-old Jimmy Sener, who disappeared from his home Sunday clad only in a thin undershirt.

Hopes the little boy would be found alive dimmed after a night in which hundreds of men beat through the brush and ravines, using lanterns and flashlights, in a futile search. It was feared exposure may have taken the life of the child.

The child, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Sener of Loch Lomond, was playing with a brother and sister when he disappeared Sunday morning. Only clues found thus far were a small red sweater on a railroad track and prints of his bare feet in the mud.

They were in China for the duration of the war. Their four older children were taken by the Japanese and separated from their parents in a concentration camp for five and one-half years. They have returned to America to place their children in school, and expect to go back to China.

Rev. Wilbur Jacobs is pastor of Dewey Avenue church.

FOUNDER OF FORD MOTOR EMPIRE DIES AT DEARBORN ESTATE

ously called his "yacht", the ship having returned yesterday from its first voyage of the season.

Those who talked to him said he appeared in excellent health, still the tall, spare, energetic man who had changed Detroit from a quiet town into a mighty metropolis.

Benson Ford and his mother, Mrs. Edsel Ford, were in New York and hurried back by airplane. Henry Ford II, now the president of the Ford Motor company, was summoned from his home.

William Benson, third grandson, was at Yale, and Mrs. Walter Buhl Ford II, the only granddaughter, was at her Detroit home.

In Declining Health For Year
Ford had been declining in health for more than a year, and eight days ago insisted on returning from his winter home in Georgia.

Before retiring at 9 p. m., his usual hour, Ford asked Ray Dahlinger, a personal aide, to be on hand early today for there was a busy day ahead.

As keenly interested as always in the operation of his properties, the industrial wizard outlined to Dahlinger a 50-mile tour of outlying small industrial plants.

He awakened at 11:15 in the cold, unlighted bedroom and called for Mrs. Ford.

She brought lamps and candles and a glass of water.

Flickering Flame
There was a flickering flame in the fireplace.

The high water of the flooded Rouge river had extinguished the fires of his power house, toppled the telephone poles of his estate and torn electric power from his home.

The old-fashioned kerosene lamps filled the bedroom with the same odor and the same uncertain light that was in his mother's room when he was born on a farm not far distant on July 30, 1863.

Unable to summon medical help, Mrs. Ford sent Robert Rankin, the family's long time chauffeur, to the Dearborn engineering laboratory of the Ford Motor company, where a telephone was available.

Dr. Mateer, of the Henry Ford hospital, arrived at the residence at 12:15 a. m.

Ford retired from active control of the vast Ford automobile empire in favor of his grandson, Henry II, 29, but he maintained a lively interest in its affairs. He relinquished control in 1945, after taking over for two of the hectic war years.

His only son, Edsel, to whom he turned over management when he retired earlier, died in 1943.

He retired first in 1919, turning minority stock and presidency of the company over to Edsel. But that "retirement", at the age of 56, proved to be in name only and some of his biggest battles were ahead of him.

Disputes over the profit-sharing plan and the $5 a day minimum wage—both innovations termed "radicalism" by more conservative industrialists—came to a head in 1919. And stockholders demanded that Ford divide profits.

With the business world at the cross-roads and the post-war-one depression soon to come, Ford was firm in his belief that profits must be turned back into the business for further expansion.

He lost a law suit but won his victory. The dispute ended when Ford bought out minority stockholders for a total of 105 million dollars, leaving his former associates wealthy.

The largest payment was to his former associate, the late U. S. Senator James Couzens, who received 30 millions. The estate of John S. Gray received 25 millions.

Ford's back-to-the-land plan began about this time. For years he had pointed out that mechanical improvements in industry were gradually cutting down the working day.

Empire Expands
The Ford empire, following his policy of "plowing back" profits for expansion, grew greatly. The Lincoln Motor Car company was bought at a receiver's sale in 1922; the first ship of the Ford shipping fleet was launched in 1924.

He began growing rubber in Florida in 1925 and in that year purchased 199 idle ships from the U. S. Shipping Board.

He obtained a huge grant of land from the Brazilian government in 1928 to grow rubber; he began his "early American village" in 1928.

He sold the Detroit, Toledo and Ironport railroad, which he bought 10 years earlier, in 1929. Greenfield Village, showplace of early Americana in Dearborn, was completed, along with the Edison Institute, in 1930.

Ford plants were out of production for several months in 1931, after which the V-8 models were brought out in 1932.

Grows With Times
Growing with the times, Ford turned out the tri-motor all-metal Ford planes in the late 1920's. This climaxed in 1941, when the company began construction of the giant Willow Run bomber plant, largest in the world, which began production the following year.

The Willow Run plant turned out 8,685 four-motored Liberator bombers during the war; now it is being used to make cars by a competitor—Kaiser-Frazer.

Ford was an ardent pacifist. He financed a "peace ship" expedition to Europe in 1915, at a cost of $400,000. The party of 160 men and women left from New York for Norway Dec. 4, but dissension developed, and the party finally disbanded, after wandering from one capital to another.

Aided War Efforts
He put all his resources at the use of the federal government when the United States entered the first world war, and in both world conflicts Ford plants contributed heavily toward production of weapons.

The second world war found his views against war as emphatic as ever. But Ford plants turned out more than five billion dollars in war goods. They rolled out tremendous quantities of bomber planes, tanks, armor plate, parts for jet planes, etc.

His death brought to an end the era when America grew from a primarily agricultural nation to the one with the largest industrial potential in the world. And he was the last of three men who did much to bring about that era—the others were Harvey Firestone and Thomas Alva Edison.

The three intensive geniuses were long-time friends. Another close associate was the naturalist, John Burroughs.

For many years the four made annual "gypsy" expeditions to out-of-the-way places.

His Greenfield Village and Edison Institute are memorials to his friends—Firestone and Edison—and himself.

WOULD DONATE RABBITS
PITTSBURGH, April 8.—(INS)—Saul Rappaport, pet shop operator, today faced the facts and offered to give away 50 rabbits.

Seems the Easter market in live bunnies wasn't too good this year, and he was stuck with a bunch.

"I'm not so much of a mathematician," Rappaport said. "But I do know a little about multiplication and I do know I'd better get rid of them before they overrun the place completely."

burgh conference which showed the largest registration of any conference yet held in Region Three.

It was also reported that the skating party held in the Arena on Saturday morning, March 27, was most successful. Over three hundred girls skated.

Mrs. Clarence Shumaker has extended an invitation to council members to attend Court of Awards of the Mt. Jackson Girl Scouts on evening of April 9.

Plans were furthered for a Com-skiing party to be held some time later in the spring.

Miss Mildred Lusk discussed various phases of the work that has been begun for the coming summer camps.

The next meeting date for the Council has been set as May 2, in the Scout office.

Natural gas as a fuel was first used in the United States in the Pittsburgh district of Pennsylvania about 1882. It was used for heat and power both for domestic and industrial purposes.

Record School Budget Is Placed On Display At East St. Building

New Castle's public school budget for 1947-48 goes upon display today in the office of the secretary and business manager, John B. Bechtol, in the school administration building on East street. The budget will be on public display for 20 days, after which action will be taken by the New Castle school board, approving either this budget or what ever amended budget might be worked out.

The budget this year is the largest in the history of the New Castle schools, due to the rising cost of materials, considerable capital outlay and increases granted to instructional, clerical and custodial forces.

Near 13.4 Millions

As shown by the budget placed upon display today the budget totals $1,746,418, as against $1,398,087 for 1946-47. In general the proposed expenditures show the following: General control, $47,203; instructional service, $974,710; auxiliary agencies and co-ordinate activities, $44,540; plant operation, $184,855; maintenance of plant, $74,750; fixed charges, $29,800; debt service, $171,125; capital outlay, $219,435.

A comparison of actual expenditures for the school year now ending show: general control, $44,065; instructional service, $854,853; auxiliary agencies and co-ordinate activities, $38,742; plant operation, $158,576; maintenance, $51,407; fixed charges, $27,800; debt service, $166,588; capital outlay, $56,056.

The comparison shows the increase in the budget is due to the following larger increases: Instructional service, which includes teachers, principals, supervisors, clerical help, books, pencils, paper, etc., $119,857; plant operation, which includes janitors' wages, fuel, water, light and power, supplies, etc., $26,279; maintenance, which includes repairs, and upkeep of grounds, $23,343; capital outlay, which includes proposed purchase of land, new buildings, alteration of old buildings, furniture, instructional apparatus and the like, $163,379. There are other smaller increases in other funds but nothing substantial.

Estimated Receipts

The money to meet the budget comes from the following sources, and the totals of course are merely estimates: Balance on hand July 1, 1947 $225,000; property tax, $947,722; delinquent tax, $23,196; state appropriation, $345,000; tuition, non-resident pupils, $20,000; temporary loan, $170,000; sales $500; other sources, $15,000.

The amounts shown in the estimated receipts may change. For example, the amount of the state appropriation may be much larger than the $345,000 shown. The board has said that if the amount over and above that sum is more than $120,000 from the state, the teachers will share in the increase. An increase in the state appropriation and any increase in the other estimated receipts would cut down or perhaps eliminate the necessity of the proposed temporary loan of $170,000.

In the capital outlay shown in the budget are included such things as the new seats for the Taggart stadium (about $80,000), the addition to the senior high school (about $250,000), a new boiler room and boilers and the foundation for a future addition to the Mahoning school, about $100,000. Not all of this money is provided in the proposed expenditures, but a bond issue will be floated to care for the balance necessary.

Instructional Increase

Of the increase shown in the instructional costs, not all of it goes to the teachers. The total amount budgeted for teachers, not including principals, supervisors or superintendent, nor clerical hire and supplies is $816,950. On a basis of 305 teachers, the average salary of teachers in the entire public school system will be $2646.

Some adjustments were offered by the board in teachers' salaries for the coming year. These include a cost-of-living bonus of $300 over the basic standard salaries, which is $110 over that given for the year 1946-47, a single salary standard for all teachers, that is equal salaries for equal training and experience. This new base makes the minimum starting salary $1600 for all teachers. In the current year it was $1400 for elementary teachers and $1600 for secondary teachers. This increase applies to the elementary teachers as the secondary base was not raised.

The maximum salary is put at $2500 with all salaries getting the $300 cost-of-living increase over the basic standards. For teachers holding a masters' degree, an additional $200 per year is given, of which the state will pay $100.

The offer of the board has not yet been accepted by the teachers and it is likely there will be some negotiation before the matter is settled.

What the state will do in the matter of subsidies to districts, teachers' salaries and other matters is not known. In all probability there will be increases made, perhaps an increase in the basic salaries, and subsidies to the districts. The millage for the year will remain at the same level as it has for the past several years, 20 mills.

The budget will be on display for 20 days. It is open for the inspection of any citizen during business hours of any business day.

Lions Club Will Present Play For Welfare Benefit

The New Castle Lions Club, which sponsored the comedy-drama "Life With Father" last fall, is again bringing an outstanding play to New Castle. The comedy hit, "Dear Ruth", produced by the Civic Drama Guild, will be at the Cathedral on Tuesday evening, April 15.

"Dear Ruth", which had a three-year run on Broadway, was hailed universally by drama critics as one of the funniest comedy-dramas of recent years. It is coming to New Castle through the new policy of the Civic Drama Guild to bring good shows with first-class talent to the smaller cities and towns, and thereby broaden the public's interest in the theater.

The cast to play in New Castle is led by Jane Butler and Robert Cowell, and all performers have extensive Broadway experience.

The Lions Club is sponsoring the play on behalf of its Welfare Fund, which is devoted principally to the promotion of sight-saving activities. Recently the club presented New Castle and Lawrence County Schools each a telebinocular, a device used for eye screening in school examinations. Presentation of several dozen blankets to the Margaret Henry Home was another worth while result of the club's activity.

New Pastor To Occupy Pulpit Next Sunday

NEW WILMINGTON, April 8.—Rev. Robert P. McDonald of St. Clairsville, O., recently named pastor of the United Presbyterian church, will assume his duties.

Rev. McDonald preached the Easter sermon at the St. Clairsville U. P. church and is expected to arrive here with his family within the next several days. He has been at St. Clairsville for the past seven years.

The annual spring meeting of the Mercer Presbytery was held in the church this morning and afternoon. Lunch was served to the visitors by the Young Women's Guild.

The congregation of the church will hold the yearly business meeting this evening in the church parlors.

The Senior Women's Missionary society will meet at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday in the church parlors. "The Home" will be the subject with Miss Jane M. Kerr in charge of the discussion.

The theme of the dinner was based on the unprecedented demand of individuals and organizations for increased state aid.

York Resident, 83, Fatally Injured

YORK, Pa., April 8.—(INS)—Internal injuries suffered in an automobile accident were blamed today for the death of John C. Becker, 83, of York, in the York hospital.

York County Coroner Lester J. Sell said a blood clot resulting from the injuries had induced death. Becker was struck by an automobile while crossing a street near his home.

Woman, 95, Dies Result Of Fall

She was a widow of Thomas L. Kennedy, prominent manufacturer and a member of the legislature from New Brighton.

THE TELEPHONE STRIKE

We are forced temporarily to restrict all calls handled by operators to those that are of an emergency nature.

Many employees of our Company have failed to report for duty because of picket lines placed around our buildings by members of the National Federation of Telephone Workers.

The employees of our Company have no part in the strike of the National Federation of Telephone Workers.

The four unions who represent them are not members of the National Federation of Telephone Workers and are not on strike.

The National Federation of Telephone Workers is seeking to paralyze America's telephone service and to force acceptance of their demands. They insist that negotiations be on a national basis without regard for local conditions and considerations. They demand exorbitant increases in wages.

The various other companies in the Bell System whose employees are involved have individually offered to arbitrate the wage demands. The National Federation of Telephone Workers have refused those offers.

We are doing—and will continue to do—our utmost to restore normal manual telephone service as quickly as possible.

All available management personnel are at the switchboards and we are appealing to all of our employees to report to duty. We count on their sense of responsibility to the public and respect of their union contract.

New Castle 'Y' To Participate In Fund Drive

Executive Committee Appointed To Study Local Aspects Of National Campaign

John P. Boyles, president of the New Castle Y. M. C. A., announced today that the local association will participate in the World Youth Fund campaign.

This drive is a peace-time financial effort to help meet the desperate needs of young people in war-torn nations throughout the world. "Three basic aims stand out for the World Youth Fund," Mr. Boyles stated. "The first is to rehabilitate the survivors of more than 600 Y. M. C. A. secretaries who suffered incredibly from overwork, malnutrition and imprisonment. The second is to bring Christian, democratic influences to bear quickly upon the young people of war-ravaged countries. Third is to repair or rebuild the 105 buildings destroyed or severely damaged during the late conflict."

Each state has a quota in the campaign. Pennsylvania has the honor of being the first state to accept its portion of the $8,650,000 to raise. The quota in the state is $950,000. An executive committee has been appointed by Mr. Boyles for the purpose of studying the local aspects of the campaign, and for the purpose of making plans for the participation of the New Castle association in the World Youth Fund drive. The committee is composed of J. Clyde Gillman, chairman; Joseph R. McPate, J. Preston Flaherty and Richard E. Rentz.

Parents Charged With Neglect

PITTSBURGH, April 8.—(INS)—Three-week-old Jimmy Mars was in the care of a foundling home today and his parents were held by police, accused of the "worst kind of neglect."

At a hearing, relatives and police said they found Jimmy in his crib with a baby's bottle of soured milk, and empty liquor bottles scattered about the room.

Relatives said they discovered Mrs. James Mars unable to answer the door when they visited her. Neither Mars nor his wife, they said, could remember when the baby had been last fed.

Mars said he had lost his job last week and he and his wife had been drinking, leaving the baby at home. A police court magistrate termed the case the "worst kind of neglect" he had ever seen.

Political Gangsters Menace To Country

PITTSBURGH, April 8.—(INS)—Assistant Secretary of War Howard C. Petersen Monday declared that to win the peace, the United States must build a Democratic barrier against political gangsterism.

Petersen, speaking at ceremonies in Pittsburgh marking the opening of Army week, asserted that the nation won the battle of arms but not the peace, adding:

"To gain that peace, this country has accepted the need to eliminate the roots of aggression and to build into the framework of the world a Democratic barrier against the political gangsterism that has always used war for its maintenance and aggrandizement."

Expiration Of Law Does Not Void Suits Under Price Control

Supreme Court Issues Important Ruling On Expiration Of Price Control Suits

WASHINGTON, April 8.—(INS)—The supreme court ruled Monday that suits for price control violations survive the expiration of price control laws.

The high bench without a written opinion reversed an eastern Pennsylvania Federal District Court holding that when the Price Control Act expired June 30, 1946, only suits initiated before that date remained valid.

The question was brought to the high court by the Justice Department in appeals from two rulings of the eastern Pennsylvania Federal Court, dismissing government suits for rent ceiling violations.

The government started the prosecutions on August 29, 1946. One involved premises owned by Lionel Pallett at 6236 N. Broad street, Philadelphia, and the second was against Franklin P. Kromer, owner of a house in Merion township, Pa.

The district court held that the law was dead during the price control "holiday" of last year. The extension finally passed by Congress, the court said, could not revive the suits since that would violate the constitutional prohibition against ex-post facto legislation.

In urging Supreme Court review acting Solicitor General George T. Washington, pointed out that the lower court ruling effected large numbers of similar suits now pending and others contemplated.

Mine Inspectors Being Kept Busy

Government Men Checking 518 Pits Closed Down As Being Unsafe To Operate

WASHINGTON, April 8.—(INS)—A spokesman for the Solid Fuels Administration said Monday that the federal government's 171 mine inspectors are checking the 518 coal pits closed by the federal government, in preference to the more than 2,000 mines declared relatively safe. The spokesman pointed out that the federal government had closed the 518 mines while the others were not barred from operation by any U. S. ruling, but could be opened if the Union Mine Safety Committee and the operating manager agreed as to safety.

It was explained that some "unsafe" mines are in the immediate vicinity of less dangerous mines, and that an inspector would not leave an area without checking all of the mines.

Capt. John Zakel Back From Arctic With Testing Unit

Capt. John Zakel, of New Castle, left Ladd Field, near Fairbanks, Alaska enroute to San Francisco, Calif., where his ship expects in dock during the third week of April. He has been serving with the Army Ground Forces Arctic Winter Testing Unit, Task Force "FRIGID", commanded by Col. Paul V. Kane, of Corvallis, Ore. The purpose of the Task Force has been to test all types of Army Ground Forces Equipment for use under Arctic conditions. Temperatures lower than 60 degrees below zero have been recorded in areas where vital tests were being conducted.

Reject Move For German Plebiscite

MOSCOW, April 8.—(INS)—Three of the big four foreign ministers in Moscow rejected a demand by Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov for a German plebiscite to decide political unification or federalization. American Secretary of State Marshall, joining with Britain and France in a flat rejection of the Molotov demand for a strong central German government, declared:

"The United States does not desire to set up a central government that would be dangerous to the peace of the world."

Phone Coin Boxes Victims Of Strike

PITTSBURGH, April 8.—(INS)—Included among the Bell Telephone Company's minor headaches Monday was the problem of coin box phones.

Maintenance men who collect the boxes joined the nationwide strike. So, the coin boxes are filling up with nickels, dimes and quarters—not to mention slugs.

When the boxes collect $25 in coin, additional coins are ejected and the telephone won't handle any more calls.

Administrator Of Estate Of Late Attorney Dana Is Asked To Pay

OTHER NEWS OF COURT HOUSE

In a suit filed with Prothonotary and Clerk of Courts John A. Edgar, Robert D. Wallace of Akron, O., asks $12,400 from D. H. Long, administrator of the estate of the late Attorney Richard F. Dana. Mr. Wallace sets out that he is a grandson of the late Robert D. Wallace who died May 2, 1905. In the will Mr. Wallace left $5,000 which was to be paid to his grandson when he arrived at the age of 21. Attorney Samuel W. Dana was the trustee. Mr. Dana died January 21, 1921 and Mr. Wallace claims his son, Attorney Richard F. Dana took over all moneys and assets and acted for his father in estates. Mr. Wallace became twenty-one years of age on July 6, 1922. He further claims that Attorney Richard F. Dana failed to pay him the $5,000 bequest and now asks that Mr. Long who is the administrator of the estate of the late Attorney Richard F. Dana, pay him the bequest with interest.

Charges Phone Strike Violates Anti-Trust Laws

WASHINGTON, April 8.—(INS)—Rep. Gwinn (R) N.Y., a member of the House Labor Committee, charged that the nationwide telephone strike violates the federal anti-trust laws. Gwinn in a statement termed the strike over wages and other issues "a concert of action... a conspiracy to fix the prices of labor" and said it therefore constituted a monopolistic practice. The congressman contended the telephone workers had the right to strike against individual companies, but said that when they acted on a nation-wide scale they violated the anti-trust laws and "must be enjoined." Gwinn predicted that the emergency legislation reported out by his committee last week to halt the telephone strike will be given precedence April 14, when most House members will return to Washington following an unofficial Easter holiday.

Six Impaired Workers Placed Here In March

Pennsylvania Unemployment Service Office Gives Data On Handicapped

During the month of March, six impaired workers were placed in local employment, the Pennsylvania
Unemployment Service office reported today—approximately four per cent of the total number placed.
This does not include those hired in Lawrence county for work in Youngstown, O.

During the period, 27 new handicapped applicants were registered for employment at the New Castle and Ellwood City offices, of whom 12 were World War II veterans. This is a decrease over the previous month, when 39 new registrations were received from impaired individuals.

Total Registered

At the present time there are 203 handicapped workers registered at the New Castle office, of whom 138 are veterans. Their impairments include the following: am-putations, blindness in one eye, defective hearing, malaria and other detriments.

It is believed that most of these applicants will make good employes if properly placed on jobs within their physical capacities. Many of these persons have been fitted into suitable jobs and are showing splendid results.

More Productive

Recently the Bureau of Labor Statistics, U. S. Department of Labor, released figures from a survey of 47 plants which show that as a group, the impaired were two per cent more productive than the unimpaired.

This does not mean, of course, that every impaired employee is a good worker. On the average, however, the handicapped held their own with others in the plants.

It is anticipated that some of the registered applicants will be placed in local construction work in the near future. However, absorbing them into such work is limited due to the nature of the labor involvement.

Still Big Need

There is still a great need for employment opportunities for our impaired workers, and all employers, whether with large or small concerns, are urged to list their job openings with the New Castle branch of the Unemployment Service to aid in placing these persons.

GOVERNORS HAVING FISCAL HEADACHES

TRENTON, N. J., April 8.—(INS)—Governors all over are having fiscal headaches bigger than ever before. This was revealed by New Jersey's governor, Alfred E. Driscoll. He recently completed a survey of new state budgets, and according to said survey increased budgets are being presented to legislators in 30 states with recommendations for new taxes.

Governor Driscoll himself recently recommended an expenditure of $155,000,000 to run New Jersey for the next fiscal year. That's the highest budget in the state's history.

A Latin version of the Bible prepared in the Fourth Century is called the "Vulgate" because of its common use in the Roman Catholic church.

Proposes New Method To Give Aid To Austria

By NATALIE RENE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, April 8.—A proposal that the Big Four powers forego all claims for food and other supplies furnished to Austria during the occupation was presented to the foreign ministers' deputies by Gen. Mark W. Clark.

The proposal received immediate support from the British and French delegates.

Soviet resistance was expressed by efforts of Deputy Foreign Minister Feodor T. Gusev to change the wording of the resolution.

The three governments that have been Austria's principal suppliers, however, are now on record as having no intention of collecting payment.

Difference Arises

The difference between the Soviet Union and the western powers arose when Gusev attempted to change the phrase "import to Austria" to "delivered to Austria."

Clark promptly protested that this would link imported supplies to foodstuffs grown in the Soviet zone of Austria and provided by the Russians to the Austrian government. He said:

"I don't believe it is the desire of the Soviet Union to hold Austria responsible for paying as debt value her own indigenous product, some of which was delivered to the Austrian government."

Clark's direct statement caused a slight flurry, but Gusev refused to change his wording.

Little progress was made at today's deputies' meeting. An American who attended commented: "We didn't get past midfield."

FIREMAN KILLED

PITTSBURGH, April 8.—(INS)—Charles Totzke, 36, a volunteer fireman of suburban North Braddock, was dead and five others were injured after battling a blaze in an old mansion.

Totzke died of a broken neck suffered from five other firemen fell on him when a ladder collapsed.

Four of the five were released after treatment at Braddock General Hospital.

Around Hollywood

By JOHN TODD
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, April 8.—When word spread around Hollywood that James Melton had hied into town over the weekend, movie producers lunged for their telephones—this being before the strike.

"Please," they begged the terrified Melton, "leave us put you back in pictures."

Melton shook his head and gave the movie magnates a hearty basso profundo horselaugh.

The guy, whose golden larynx has helped him accumulate as much dough as any classical yodeler in the music dodge, does not like Hollywood.

He has a point.

Just Didn't Click
Hollywood didn't do right by Melton when he was started in half a dozen musical flickers a few semesters back.

He turned in a superb acting job in each film. His voice was never better. The screen stories appeared to be solid. Yet the pictures laid eggs like a flock of Rhode Island hens.

Melton thinks he knows the answer. "Too many movie executives," he said, "should be operating fruit stands instead of making movies."

"Too many of them know absolutely nothing about art or artists. The stuff they try to foist upon the movie public is a crying shame."

So he has informed the movie moguls that it will be a long cold day in July—unless some drastic changes occur—before jovial James puts his pear-shaped tones upon film sound tracks.

Come Long Ways
The husky vocalizer has come a long way since the days he used to pump a handorgan and sing in the choir of a little Georgia church.

Music circles now consider him one of the top two or three tenors in the business, and certainly none of the competition comes close to rivaling him in the keepin'-busy department.

Melton's biggest problem is finding enough hours in the day. In addition to his cross country concert tours—which fatten his wallet by something like $4000 a performance—the Metropolitan Opera singer is top man on the NBC "Harvest of Stars" program, makes constant guest appearances on other radio shows, turns out phonograph records and solos with most of the leading symphony orchestras around the country.

In between, Melton takes voice lessons, plays with his beautiful red-haired daughter, Margo, and collects vintage automobiles.

er ship. A kindly, simple man, he was one of the best-loved men in the industry.

Ford's namesake, Henry II, is president of the company and driving hard to attain leadership in the automobile field. Only 29, he received the U. S. Chamber of Commerce citation as the "man of the year" in 1945, for his industrial leadership and pioneering in better relations with labor. Henry II, his wife and three children live simply on a farm.

Live Simply
Benson, the second grandson, is a director of the company and, like Henry II, lives simply and unaffectedly.

The youngest grandson, William, is a student at Yale. He will marry Margaret Firestone this summer, culminating a friendship between the elder Ford and Harvey Firestone which endured for years.

Ford's granddaughter, Mrs. Walter Buhl Ford is married to the president of the Wyandotte (Mich.) chemical company, one of the largest and most successful in the field. While his name is Ford, his family is not related to the automobile Fords.

Talking Corpse
Gives Mortician
Surprise Of Life

PITTSBURGH, April 8.—(INS)—It takes quite a bit to ruffle a solemn undertaker, but Harvey Campbell, 77, gave a mortician of nearby Wilkensburg the surprise of his life.

Campbell walked into Clarence E. Coulter's establishment and commented:

"Say, I hear you're going to bury me."

As far as Coulter knew, he was preparing Campbell's funeral. The aged man—supposedly the victim of an automobile accident—was legally dead. His relatives, police, the hospital and morgue said so.

A quick check revealed the body in the funeral home to be that of another man closely resembling Campbell. Campbell flatly declared: "I'm not ready to be buried yet."

SEEKS CHORUS MEMBERS
PITTSBURGH, April 8.—(INS)—Managing Director William Wynne, of the Pittsburgh Civic Light Opera Association, sent out a call for chorus members for the summer presentations.

Wynne announced that tryouts for singers will be held April 15, 16 and 17 at Soldiers Memorial hall. Auditions for dancers will be held April 21 through 24 at the YM and YWA.

Went Back on Promise
Assistant District Attorney A. Benjamin Scirica charged before Judge Henry C. Carson that Wentzel had gone back on his promise to marry Mrs. Green after she obtained a divorce from her husband. The divorce decree was signed only a week before her death.

"Wentzel didn't want to marry her, but he saw he was going to lose her and he couldn't see her going to anyone else, so he killed her," the prosecutor declared.

Wentzel's wife, Evelyn, accompanied him to the court room, which was packed with spectators.

Scirica indicated that he would not press for the death sentence if Wentzel is convicted.

Normal Telephone Service In Some
District Areas

PITTSBURGH, April 8.—(INS)—Telephone services in Western Pennsylvania today was about 25 per cent normal as many operators reported for work despite the nationwide strike of telephone unions.

J. Frank Cox, general manager for the area for the Bell company, said local operators reported in Pittsburgh, while several surrounding communities reported normal service.

However, W. C. Stevenson, chairman of the Pittsburgh Communications Workers Council, claimed the work stoppage was 90 per cent effective.

Cox said that Greensburg, New Kensington, Clairton, Elizabeth and Washington, Pa., all reported normal manual service. He said 35 per cent of the plant men in Pittsburgh and 65 per cent outside the city had continued on the job.

Some men supervisors were filling in for regular operators on Pittsburgh's manual and long distance switchboards.

Seek First Degree Murder Verdict In Divorcee's Murder

NORRISTOWN, Pa., April 8.—(INS)—The state today sought a first degree murder verdict against Gerald C. Wentzel, Pittstown factory-hand accused of strangling to death Miriam Green, 28-year-old Pittstown divorcee.

Wentzel, 37, pleaded innocent to his indictment. His attorneys indicated at the opening of his trial yesterday that they will seek to prove he was on a hunting trip last December at the time Mrs. Green was garrotted with a piece of cloth in her apartment.

Assistant District Attorney A. Benjamin Scirica charged before Judge Henry C. Carson that Wentzel had gone back on his promise to marry Mrs. Green after she obtained a divorce from her husband. The divorce decree was signed only a week before her death.

Would Revise State Game Law

Proposal Made To Hail Violators Before Minor Judicial Officers

HARRISBURG, April 8.—(INS)—Revision of the game law to permit violators to be hailed before minor judicial officers was recommended to the legislature today by the joint state government commission.

Game statutes now permit fines to be levied in the field by representatives of the fish and game commissions.

The commission's recommendation was made following an 18-month-long survey of administrative functions of the two commissions.

The bi-partisan legislative agency also urged the General Assembly to amend the game law to authorize public hearings in counties where open seasons have been proposed on antlerless deer.

The JSOC told the assembly in a report that salaries of fish commission were below the levels effective in the game commission but made no recommendation for increases.

A $2.10 fur trappers' license was proposed, the 10 cents to be retained by the issuing agent.

K. Pulaskis' Trim Hoboes, Battle Dukes Wednesday

Monday Game At Arena Goes Overtime, Score 47-43; Andrews, Wimer, Wasik Stars

FRIDAY GAME WITH WASHINGTON OFF

K. Pulaski "Big Five" made it 50 victories for the season last night at the Arena, by trimming the Harlem Hoboes 47 to 43 in an overtime session. Over 500 fans attended the game.

Following the game Manager Al Gonet and his assistant Leo Evans together with the K. Pulaski sports committee decided to cancel the Friday night game here with the Washington D. C. Court Jesters. "We are tired of booking sight unseen teams here," Gonet announced.

The Harlem Hoboes failed to live up to the advance press notices by any stretch of the imagination. They didn't clown any, they didn't have much of a ball club, and are definitely through here.

The K. P. team led the first period 7 to 3, and at the half the visitors led 17 to 13. The K. Pulaskis regained the lead at 28-23 as the third period closed, and the regulation game ended 40-40. In the overtime the local independent champs outscored the Hoboes 7 to 3.

Wimer-Andrews-Wasik

Billy Andrews, Fred Wimer and Stan Wasik, the scoring for the Gonet coached machine with big John Zubkowski also a tower of strength with seven points. Coach Gonet used 12 players in the game. The Westminister players are on Easter vacations at their homes and were not available. But, they will be here Wednesday for the battle with the powerful Duquesne All-Stars.

Woo Woods, Mize, Aiken and Bates led the scoring for the Hoboes, and they weren't clowning either.

Stars Here Wednesday

It was announced that the game Wednesday will start at 8:30 o'clock. In the Duquesne lineup will be Camie, Barry, Penzelik, and Lacy from the Duquesne team that lost at Madison Square Garden to the championship Utah Cowboys, plus Stan Noska, Andy Kasparik and Moe Becker from the Pittsburgh Fro Ironmen.

This will be the first showing here of the lads coached by the veteran Chick Davies, and a large crowd is indicated. It looks as if the championship K. Pulaski team is in for a tough evening.

Senate Increases Cost Of Fishing

One Half Of Increase Of 50 Cents To Be Devoted To Ponds' Purchase

HARRISBURG, April 8.—(INS)—Local option voting on Sunday ice hockey and ice shows would be provided in a senate-approved measure before the house today.

Sponsored by Senator Montgomery F. Crowe (R) Monroe, the bill would limit any exhibitions approved by voters to the period between 2 p. m. and 6 p. m. A vote could not be taken on the subject more often than once every five years.

The bill passed the upper chamber by a vote of 26 to 23. Senator John J. Haluska (D) Cambria, branded the proposal a wedge that would cause breaches of the proper observance of Sunday. Fewer young people attended churches "we have given them opportunities for other pleasures," he asserted, and I think they have gone too far.

Supports Clean Athletics Senator Bertram G. Frazier (R) Philadelphia, said he "would not want sports to take the place of church," but said he favored supporting "clean sports that make for a clean mind."

Another bill passed by the upper chamber by a vote of 34-14 would boost fishing license fees from $1.50 to $2 and earmark half of the increase for purchasing fishing waters or lands containing reservoirs or ponds.

The measure was co-sponsored by Majority Leader O. J. Tallman and Senator John M. Walker (R) Allegheny.

Pirates-Brownies Open Series Today

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 8.—(INS)—The Pittsburgh Pirates were on the first leg of their journey home today, stopping off in Jacksonville to meet the St. Louis Browns in the first of three exhibition games on their tour northward.

Manager Billy Herman announced that he will give Pitcher Fritz Ostermuller a shot at going the distance against the Browns today. The Pirate roster was down to 33 players as Herman's squad broke camp at Miami Beach yesterday. Several other players were due to be cut prior to the opener in Chicago April 15.

Don Kepner, former Penn State baseball star, designed the hunting boot which now bears his name.

Cleveland Browns Backfield Coach Speaks At Union

Union CAA Will Hear John Brickets Tonight At Union High Auditorium

Union Civic and Athletic Association is bringing John Brickets, backfield coach of the Cleveland Browns, to the Union high school auditorium tonight at 8 o'clock. Dan Radabaugh, president of the organization, announced today. Coach Brickets, a talented speaker as well as a top ranking coach, is bringing with him movies of the Cleveland Browns in action during their 1946 season.

Brickets, who is head backfield coach for Paul Brown, coach and general manager of the Cleveland Browns pro-footballers, has been in outstanding high school and college football and basketball mentor before becoming coach of a pro team.

Has Great Record While coach of the New Philadelphia high school team his aggregation took the Pennsylvania scholastic title as well as winning 36 out of 40 contests. At Huntington, W. Va., his basketball teams reached the state tournaments four times, gained the finals twice and annexed the championship once.

He tangled with Paul Brown a number of times in his career. In their college days Brickets was star of Wittenberg college while Brown spearheaded the Miami university football team and again when Brown's Massillon Juggermats were being opposed by Brickets' New Philadelphia team. The pair are a great combination now and the U. C. A. A. believes it is doing the New Castle public a great favor in bringing Brickets here tonight.

Approval Given To Pension Plan In Big Leagues

Commissioner Chandler Approves Plan Now In Effect In Both Major Leagues

CINCINNATI, April 7.—(INS)—The major league players' pension plan, which went into effect April 1, today had the approval of Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler. The plan includes both annuity and life insurance benefits under group contracts with the Equitable Life Insurance Company.

The program, with only one exception, sets the retirement age of a player, coach or trainer at 50 years. It provides annuities from $50 to $100 a month for life. The plan also stipulates that these personnel be insured by the clubs for from approximately $3,500 to $10,000 as long as they are on the roster of a major league club.

The lone exception regarding the retirement age is that for members over the age of 40 when joining the plan, the retirement date will be ten years after joining the plan. However, for coaches and trainers aged 60 or over April 1, 1947, only five years of coverage will be required, or they may be retired after the age of 65 before being in the plan for five years.

Paradise Creek Opens May 23

Paradise Creek, near Bellefonte, a famous trout stream, will be open to Pennsylvania fishermen between May 23 and July 10, inclusive. The "kill" will be two trout and each Pennsylvania will be permitted to make six trips to fish in the stream. Fishing will start at 8 a. m. and close at 8 p. m.

Schedule Committee To Meet Tonight

The city baseball schedule committee will have a meeting at Carm's tonight at 7:30 o'clock, with "Boss" Zidow as chairman. The following will attend: Len Gilbert, Mike Diffley, Mickey Huff, Nick George (of the Sons of Italy), Jimmy Tropen, Frank Coen and Carm DeLeon. It is hoped to have a schedule ready for presentation to the league managers at the Thursday evening meeting at 7:30 o'clock. The rules and by-laws committee will meet at Carm's Wednesday evening at 7:30. It was announced by Chairman Joe Augustine.

Big Year Seen By Juniors Here

Eleven Teams Are Represented At Meeting Of American Legion Junior League

UMPIRES ARE BEING SOUGHT

One of the biggest years in American Legion Junior baseball is indicated this year, following last night's enthusiastic meeting in the Legion Home, when eleven teams signed up for franchises in the league. It is hoped to make this 12 before the league opens its season next month. Another meeting will be held in about two weeks to make final plans. Chairman A. Wesley Mann stated today.

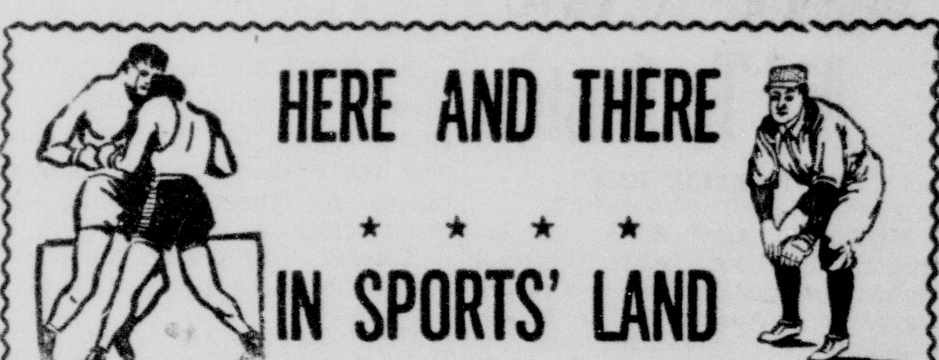

Teams which have enrolled include: West Side Tigers, South Side Wolverines, Sons of Italy, Lockleys, Bishop Dairy, Ecclesian Club, Independent Nine, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Wagner Panthers, and Croton A. C. The new teams are South Side Wolverines, Sons of Italy, Bishop Dairy, Ecclesian Club.

Committee Named A committee consisting of Ted Clark, Ed. Porada, and Bishop were named on playing fields, the by-laws committee consists of Sam Ross and Stan Witherspoon.

The league is looking for umpires and anyone interested in assisting in serving the league in this capacity is asked to contact Chairman Wesley Mann at 1930-J. The Perry S. Gaston Post, which is backing the league, will pay those who officiate, it is announced.

PLAN TO ORGANIZE BASEBALL TEAMS IN COLLEGE TOWN

NEW WILMINGTON, April 8.—A meeting for all young men of the community interested in the organization of senior and junior baseball teams for the coming season has been called for 7:30 Tuesday evening at the fire station. Howard Rodgers, manager of the senior team last summer, has called the meeting. He states that the roster of the junior team will be composed of boys between the ages of 14 and 17.

SPORTSMEN will receive a "first-hand" report as to trout stocked in county streams when the Lawrence County Sportsman's Association meets at 8 o'clock tonight in the courthouse. Trout season will be ushered in at 5 a. m. April 15. Brook trout have been supplied to all excepting the Little Neshannock and Slippery Rock creek, which received brown trout. Incidentally, all details for the sportsman's banquet, April 10, in the Cathedral, will be determined finally tonight. Persons who intend to attend the fete, at which Attorney S. Dale Furst, Jr., will speak, should obtain their "paste-boards" no later than tonight. No tickets will be sold at the Cathedral door, Thursday night. . . . Alonzo Stagg, patriarch of American football, is enroute to Selingsgrove, Pa., to assist his son in his coaching duties at Susquehanna University. His departure marked the end of 13 years as head football coach at the College of the Pacific.

A pension plan for baseball players is a reality today, with the 10 major league teams footling the bill for the premiums and three-fourths of the annuities cost. Two months ago Here & There carried a paragraph about the proposed pensions, having been supplied with the information by McClellan J. Donnelly of the Equitable Life Assurance society. . . . Jack Hovis, Cochran, is back home, on crutches. He was injured while playing with the St. Louis Cards, and while being groomed for a berth with Carthage in the K. O. M. league, Missouri. . . . Contrary to expectations, Sugar Ray Robinson and Jimmy Doyle box in Cleveland, May 30. If Doyle wins they will be rematched for a July 22 bout. . . . Mike O'Neil has been signed as a scout by the Phils. He is a brother of Steve, manager of the Tigers. He is a former St. Louis Card and managed Scranton, Utica and Syracuse.

Milton and Mike Franchuk have launched a mink farm at Hightfield, Butler County. With the coming of spring the mink are ready to settle down and raise families. Each female usually has two to ten "pups". Gestation period is 40 to 50 days. The young must be watched carefully. The mother might kill them, and after they're eight weeks old, they might kill her, or each other. . . . For the third time the Mike Berkovich-Jimmy Mandell bout which was carded for Youngstown, has been shunted back to April 15, two days before Primo Carnera takes off his bathrobe and wrestles here. Primo's opponent has not yet been named. Reports say a big crowd will greet Da Freeman. "The only one I can see today who can make a fight of it with Joe Louis is Melio Bettina." The foregoing is from Billy Conn. Melio is a southpaw. Joe Baksi and Bruce Woodcock have no business in the ring with Joe, Conn added.

Shortstop Only Question Mark On Cubs Team

By CHARLES EINHORN

(International News Service Sports Writer)

CHICAGO, April 8.—The Chicago Cubs have been the only eight-man team in history to win the National League flag.

Charles J. Grimm's menacing Bruin have the left, and, quite possibly, the pitching. They've even got some young blood up from a productive farm system, sacrilegious though that may sound for this traditional old folks' home of big league ball.

They have the nerve and the talent, as evidenced last year when only a black plague of injuries doused the Cubs' threat to repeat their 1945 league championship.

Need Shortstop

Now all they need is a shortstop. Can you play short? If so, register as soon as possible with Jolly Cholly Grimm. You may start the season for the Cubs come the Wrigley Field opener against Pittsburgh April 15. The shortfiddling travails have been not only an achilles heel but a whole achilles for the Cubs ever since Billy Jurgis left the scene in 1938. Jurgis, completing an involved odyssey of the National League, returned to the Cubs last year and provided some interesting, if last-gasp moments for Wrigley fans. Billy was the Cubs' "regular" shortstop, playing afield in 73 games, during the 1946 season.

But that simply cannot be in 1947. Jurgis now is a full-fledged coach, and with good reason, since he finds difficulty getting around sans a cane.

That leaves Lenny Berullo, a shortstop by trade if not achievement; Robert Sturgeon, a second-baseman by preference if nothing else; and Clarence "Ace" Parker, a football player.

Berullo's work at the plate last year led certain excitable elements within Cub fandom to recommend his death via the Chinese water torture. Lenny batted .151 in 65 games and failed by some degree to rock the hall of fame with his work afield.

Sturgeon batted an estimable .296 in an even hundred games last year, and may well get Grimm's starting nod at short, although in the past he has fielded on the other side of second base only by mistake.

Forget Ace Parker. Forget shortstop too, if you can.

and the Cubs are a pennant-winner. Stan Hack, the Redoubtable Stanley, is back at third. Don Johnson, injured in '46 but now, once again, possibly the best key-stone in the loop, is at second. Eddie Waitkus, power-packed rookie of the year last season, is ready and willing at first. Catching More than enough. . . . Clyde McCullough, Mickey Livingston, Joe Scheffing, Paul Gillespie, Dewey Williams, all talented craftsmen.

Outfielders? Bill Nicholson, he of the loud, long "swish," has been wounding the fences in spring training. Andy Pafko, Chicago fans will tell you with both statistical and emotional backing, is the best center-fielder in the league. And in left? Meet Phil Cavaretta.

Good Hurling Staff
"Peanuts" Lowery, who may see some work at third, Merv Rickert, and Dom Dallesandro form a reserve outfield unmatched in the majors.

Claude Passeu's recent back operation will keep "O' 13" out of the pitchers' box for a while, but the Cub mound corps is still plenty loaded. Hank Borowy, his finger healed, and Henry Wyse are two solid right-handers, and Johnny Schmitz is a top southpaw. Relievers Emil Kuhn and Bob Chipman are ready. So are Paul Erickson, Ed Hanyzewski and Russ Meers and a pair of highly-regarded rookies, Bob McCall and Doyle Lade.

Now all we need is a shortstop.

Officers Named At North County League Meeting

At a meeting held last night at Carm's place, West Washington street, officers of the North County Baseball League were named.

Carm DeLeone was chosen as president of the circuit for the second straight year. Charles Morris was named vice president, William White, secretary, with Frank Coen and Paul Sankey, commissioners. Selected to serve as a schedule committee were Adam Gnell, Dave Means, Clarence McConnell and Si Young.

Next meeting of the league will be held Monday, April 14, at the first station, New Wilmington, beginning at 8:30 p. m.

Georgie Abrams Seeking Battle With Tony Zale

By CHARLES EINHORN

(International News Service Sports Writer)

CHICAGO, April 8.—A conspicuous rarity in these days of international discomfiture is Georgie Abrams, who can and does fight both in Chicago and New York, apparently immune to the diplomatic complications which may arise therefrom.

Wonders do not cease there, for Georgie has decided he will employ this tale-of-two cities to become middleweight champion of the world, a position now firmly occupied by Tony Zale.

To sketch the past briefly, Abrams, then New York middleweight champ, met Zale in a fight to decide the undisputed titleholder back in 1941. Zale took the decision, after getting up off the floor in the first round, and has been assiduously avoiding Georgie Abrams ever since.

Now here is what happens:

Abrams fights middleweight Anton Raadik, the bulldog-faced fellow from Estonia, in Chicago next Friday night. A victory over Raadik in the opinion of Abrams, will lead to an Abrams-Tony Zale middleweight championship bout.

In the meantime, on May 16, Abrams plans to knock out Ray (Sugar) Robinson, the welterweight champ, in an overweight bout in New York. This Georgie will do just for the love of fighting.

The point is, Georgie may never see Zale from any but the spectator's position, since there is a strong possibility that Raadik will whip Abrams come Friday night at Chicago Stadium.

With a sort of blissful foresight, Abrams admits he thinks Raadik will give him more trouble than Robinson.

"This Raadik does not sound like too pleasant an opponent, from everything I have heard. He is big, and he does not fight like an orthodox young man. He is not a dancer or a stepper or a bobber or weaver, he is a clubber and I do not like clubbers."

Raadik has been doing right well for himself since his arrival in this country as European middleweight champion a year ago. He potted Joey LaMotta in a bloody 10-round scuffle last summer, and this winter bashed Anton Christoforidis, former light-heavy champion, in seven rounds.

Labor Reform Bill Outlined By Senator Taft

Would Authorize Government Injunctions On Industry-Wide Strikes

WASHINGTON, April 8.—(INS)—Sen. Taft (R-O.) on Monday made public a "tentative" labor reform bill which would authorize the government to seek injunctions to halt industry-wide strikes threatening the national health or safety.

The Omnibus Bill outlawing the closed shop, creating new mediation machinery and restricting industry-wide bargaining, was described by Taft as "not punitive."

The senator told a news conference his labor committee will "begin voting" on the measure Friday. Taft hopes to have the measure ready for senate debate by the middle of next week.

He said the "consensus" of seven members of his committee today appeared to be one of agreement on the bill's provisions, but emphasized that no votes had been taken.

The chairman disclosed that the emergency injunction power was brought up by the committee only this morning. Taft said he believed the procedure would cover a situation similar to the present telephone strike.

Briefly Taft explained the injunction proviso this way:

When in the attorney general's opinion a strike affecting an entire industry imperils the national health or safety, the justice chief may seek an injunction good for 60 days.

The attorney general, however, could not ask for an injunction until he had appointed a fact-finding board of inquiry to report to him on the issues involved and the position taken by both parties to the dispute.

At the end of the 60-day injunction period, if the walkout still was not settled, an employee's election would be held under the National Labor Relations Board on the question of whether there should be a strike.

Would Cover Phone Strike

Taft said:

"I think this would cover the telephone strike. That involves substantially an entire industry and the attorney general, of course, would have to find that it affected the national health and safety. Perhaps the telephone strike is in event of a vote to strike, the injunction automatically would be discharged and the president would be required to report to Congress on the situation with any recommendations he cared to make.

"Who knows the issues in the telephone strike? I have tried to follow it pretty closely and I don't."

After the 60-day period, in event of a vote to strike, the injunction automatically would be discharged and the president would be required to report to Congress on the situation with any recommendations he cared to make.

Asked what Congress would do, Taft replied:

"That is the 64 dollar question. If it's a general strike, I don't know what we'd do except what they did in England—turn the whole country over to the government. But in any event it would only be used in an emergency that paralleled the emergency of war."

MOISTURE CAN RUIN BEST OF PAINT JOBS

Blistering and flaking may be caused by pressure of moisture in or under the painted surface and is not always a sign of poor workmanship or materials when paint peels from walls.

This is a result of high humidity on the inside surface and low humidity and low vapor pressure on the outdoor paint side. The same effects can be seen when damp or unseasoned wood has been painted. The remedy is a vapor seal on the inside surface of walls to protect the paint against the force of moisture.

This is especially important if walls are insulated. Without this protection vapor gets into the insulation, condenses somewhere between inside and outside wall surfaces. The insulation gets water-logged and useless. Where walls are exposed to continued dampness rot soon sets in.

On new construction, special treated paper is best for vapor sealing. On old buildings where paper cannot very well be applied, the inside surface may be protected by a thorough coat of aluminum paint.
